With the upcoming Forest Medicine and Biophilia Forum, Fondazione Appia Antica Forum will lay the foundation for the Green City of Rome.

- A Green City designed and managed by its residents and activists.
- A Green City that puts people, pedestrians and child carriages first.
- A Green City that takes care of its older population, citizens with handicaps and most of all its children.
- A Green City with clean air, flowers of all colors and citizen gardens.
- A Green City with healing forests, trees and agriculture.
- A Green City that will provide sustainable education, Green Jobs and Sustainable Careers.
- A Green City designed around family values and time with friends.
- A Green City built on Rome's heritage and for Italia's Green future.
- A Green Italian sustainable future as the foundation of a European Union.

Fondazione Appia Antica invites anybody interested in sustainable urban development, sustainable education and sustainable environment to participate in our efforts to create a blue-print for the Green City of Rome that will become the guiding light for other cities around the world.

Just as the world once viewed Rome as the center of culture, engineering, public health, water supply, and the art of living, we want to give the world a new Rome, a Rome that embraces and leads as the most advanced Green City in the world.
